DIRECTIONS: Get a group together and play the game of Life. As you play through the game stop and consider where you are now and where you want to be. As the game plays out, think of all the options and experiences players are facing around each corner.

1) The end is almost near! Choosing to go to college or enter the workforce is a big decision - which path did you choose to start out on in the game?

2) What might be some of the pros and cons of starting out going to college?

3) What careers were only available to players who attended college?

4) Name some of the challenges each path featured before a career was chosen - which path sounds "easier" to you?

5) What career did you end up choosing at first? What types of responsibilities might this person have?

6) What salary did you initially begin with? Did you feel like it was "a lot" or "a little" to begin with?

7) Which house did you initially own? Is this the type of home you would like to live in some day?

8) At what points did you or another player need to take out loans from the bank?

9) Did you opt to buy insurance? Why or why not?

Categorize 10 of the LIFE tiles or "actions" based on your opinion

Pros	Cons

10) Do you agree with the ultimate goal of the game - that accumulating wealth is the way to "win" at life? Explain.

Why might many Americans feel making money is a main purpose of their lives?